Postgame Press Conferences & Locker Room Access

Postgame press conferences at Wembley Stadium will be held adjacent to the team locker rooms. The Jaguars will use the Stadium Press Conference Room. The Patriots will use Press Conference Room A. Quotes will be distributed following the press conferences.

As is the case with all 2024 NFL regular season games, locker rooms will only be open postgame to media that regularly cover the team.

Press Seating at Wembley Stadium

Wembley Stadium has two press boxes, located on Level 1 on the north side of the stadium, referred to as East and West. Each seat is equipped with power, access to a television monitor and high-speed internet access. As is traditional in Europe, the press seating is located outdoors in a secure, covered area of the stands. Please dress accordingly.

Media Workroom & Lounge

Media workrooms and lounges are available for both press boxes at Wembley Stadium. They are located directly behind each press box and equipped with high-speed internet access. Lunch and a halftime meal will be provided.

Photographers

The NFL Gameday Field Access Policy is intended to keep the sidelines clear of potential interferences, to maintain the efficiency of sideline operations, and to minimize safety hazards. As a result, a limited number of photographers will be accredited for field access.

Photographers must shoot from behind the corporate signage located around the field at Wembley Stadium. This is approximately 30 feet from the field on the sidelines. Photographers' positions in the end zones are behind the LED boards, on either side of the goalposts.

Photographers are asked to work from a kneeling position for all stadium events to prevent obstructing the view of fans seated in the stands. Stadium security will be made aware that photographers at NFL games often switch locations during the game and this will not be an issue.

Photo vests and in-field armbands will be used exactly as they are during a typical game in the United States. They will be distributed in and returned to the photo lounge.

A photo workroom is available to photographers on the field level of the stadium. This room is equipped with high-speed internet access. Lunch and a halftime snack will be provided.

Telecommunications/Frequency Coordination

If you would like to order telecommunication services at Wembley Stadium or discuss frequency coordination, contact Bill Lipscomb at (206) 484-1670 or wbl@wblservices.com.

Transportation

Parking is not available at Wembley and all media are encouraged to take advantage of public transportation.

Team Practice Availabilities

Information on team practice availabilities during the week in London will be shared with all media that have been approved for that respective game in the coming weeks.

Laptop Usage

Most electrical equipment is manufactured to handle a range of voltages. The information for your specific computer should be printed on the laptop's power adapter itself. Many laptops accept input of 100 to 240 volts, which would mean it is fine for use in both the United States and the United Kingdom. If this is the case, all you will need to use your laptop in London is a U.S.-to-U.K. plug adapter. This can be purchased at most electronics stores for less than $10.
